

BELGIUM IN FOCUS

How is the Belgian construction and real estate market doing after an intense 2020? In which sectors are there opportunities and where is the impact of corona making itself felt? Are you already active on this market or do you want to enter it? Then the report Belgium in Focus is the ideal report for you! The report offers the perfect analysis of the most important trends and developments in the Belgian residential and non-residential construction market.

In the 2021 edition, we build on the important trends from the previous edition of this report. Back then, we identified a number of important trends. The 'stomach ach' of the Belgian is disappearing, the project-based construction of apartments in particular is increasing and the energy policy is causing a major renovation frenzy among Belgians.

In 2021 we will zoom in even deeper on renovation behavior. For example, for each job we will analyze who carried it out, where the materials were purchased and what orientation sources were used. In addition, the media consumption of the respondents will be mapped.

Belgium in Focus puts the Belgian market in the perspective of current economic developments demographic trends and the most important policy developments. In addition, the report contains a unique analysis of the Belgian market based on extensive desk research and a survey of Belgian consumers. consumers. This creates a mix of hard facts and opinion research. Based on all the information BuildInfoConsult provides an in-depth vision of the changing market conditions on the Belgian construction and real estate market and insights into the opportunities and (im)possibilities it offers. This makes the report a must-have for all parties active in the Belgian market or wishing to enter this market. The research was conducted in Flanders as well as in Wallonia and Brussels.
